Privacy Policy for the landing pages of Kedrion's sites in Austria, Poland and Portugal

PRIVACY POLICY

The protection and security of your personal data are of particular importance to us. We undertake to comply with statutory data protection provisions when operating our website, in particular in accordance with the European General Data Protection Regulation. As a general rule, we do not pass on your data to third parties unless you have given your consent, it is permitted by law, or we are obliged to do so on the basis of official or court orders.

Access to our website is generally possible without providing any personal data. Where personal data (e.g. name, address or email addresses) is collected on our website, this is always done on a voluntary basis wherever possible.

Please note that data transmission over the internet (e.g. when communicating by email) may be subject to security vulnerabilities. It is not possible to guarantee complete protection of data against access by third parties.

RESPONSIBILITY

The company responsible for operating this website is:

ACCESS DATA

We do not collect, store, process or use any of your personal data in connection with simply accessing our website. However, data is collected which, for data security reasons, is temporarily stored in a log file on our server (server log files) and may allow identification (e.g. name of the file accessed, date and time of access, volume of data transferred, notification of successful access, browser type and version, user's operating system, referrer URL and the requesting provider). This usage data is analysed anonymously for statistical purposes as part of internal studies into user interests and behaviour.

This usage data is not analysed to create personal usage profiles, unless you have expressly consented to such use. We expressly reserve the right to analyse this data in the event of misuse of our website or other legal violations that could lead to a report being made to the law enforcement authorities. Beyond this, your usage data will not be analysed or passed on to third parties.

COOKIES

Our website uses cookies. A cookie is a text file that is sent when you visit a website and is temporarily stored on the website user's hard drive. If the website user accesses the relevant server of our website again, the website user's browser sends the previously received cookie back to the server. The server can then analyse the information obtained through this process in various ways. Cookies can, for example, be used to control the display of adverts or to facilitate navigation on a website. If the user wishes to prevent the use of cookies, they can do so by making local changes to their settings in the web browser used on their computer, i.e. in the programme used to open and display web pages (e.g. Google Chrome, Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Opera or Safari).

Types of cookies

This website uses the following types of cookies:

- Technical cookies: These cookies are essential for the proper functioning of our website.

- Analytical cookies: These cookies are used to analyse the use of our website anonymously. For example, they allow us to determine whether the same user revisits our website at different times. They can also be used to improve the performance and user-friendliness of our website.

Most of the cookies we use (session cookies) expire at the end of the browser session. Persistent cookies remain on your device and enable us to recognise your browser the next time you visit. This data is not used to personally identify visitors to this website.

Cookies are stored on the user's computer and transmitted from there to our website. As a user, you therefore have full control over the use of cookies. By changing the settings in your web browser, you can disable or restrict the transmission of cookies.

Third-party cookies

This website also uses third-party cookies:

Google Analytics:

This website uses Google Analytics 4, a web analytics service provided by Google Ireland Limited, Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland ('Google'). Google Analytics enables us to analyse the use of our website in order to improve its functionality and the user experience. For this purpose, Google Analytics uses cookies and similar technologies that collect information about your use of the website, such as pages visited, interactions, technical information about your browser and device, and approximate location data derived from your IP address. The processing of your personal data for analytical purposes is carried out exclusively on the basis of your consent in accordance with Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR. You may withdraw your consent at any time with future effect via our cookie settings. Google Analytics 4 does not log or store the IP addresses of users located within the European Union. Instead, IP addresses are used solely to derive approximate location information before being discarded. The information collected by Google Analytics may be transferred to servers outside the European Economic Area and processed there. Where personal data is transferred to third countries, this is carried out in compliance with the applicable data protection requirements. We have entered into a data processing agreement with Google in accordance with Article 28 of the GDPR.

Further information on the processing of personal data by Google can be found in Google's Privacy Policy:

PURPOSE OF THE PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA AND LEGAL BASIS

Scope:

As a general rule, we collect and use our users' personal data only to the extent necessary to provide a fully functional website and our content and services. The collection and use of our users' personal data generally takes place only with their consent.

An exception applies in cases where it is not possible, for practical reasons, to obtain consent in advance and where the processing of the data is permitted by statutory provisions.

Purpose:

We only collect personal data if and to the extent that you knowingly provide it to us yourself. The personal data you provide is stored for the purpose of contacting you, provided you have expressly given us your consent to do so. You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. The purposes of processing are stated in the relevant sections of our website and are not subject to subsequent change.

Data will only be disclosed to third parties without your consent if we are legally obliged to do so.

Legal basis:

Where we obtain the data subject's consent, Article 6 of the GDPR serves as the legal basis for the processing of personal data. Similarly, Article 6 of the GDPR applies to the processing of personal data necessary for the performance of a contract, for compliance with a legal obligation to which our company is subject, for the implementation of pre-contractual measures, where the processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or a third party, or to protect a legitimate interest of our company or a third party, where such interests override the fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject.

RETENTION PERIOD FOR PERSONAL DATA

Personal data is stored for the duration of the relevant statutory retention period. Once this period has expired, the data is routinely deleted, unless it is required for the initiation or performance of a contract.

Under the applicable data protection regulations, you have the following rights in particular:

- Right of access (Article 15 of the GDPR): You have the right to request information regarding the processing of your personal data.

- Right to rectification (Art. 16 GDPR): You have the right to request the rectification of inaccurate personal data or the completion of incomplete personal data.
- Right to erasure (Art. 17 GDPR): You have the right to request the erasure of your personal data, provided that the legal requirements are met.
- Right to restriction of processing (Art. 18 GDPR): You have the right to request the restriction of the processing of your personal data, provided that the legal requirements are met.
- Right to data portability (Art. 20 GDPR): You have the right to receive the personal data concerning you in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format or – where technically feasible – to have it transmitted to another controller.
- Right to object (Art. 21 GDPR): You have the right to object at any time, on grounds relating to your particular situation, to the processing of your personal data, provided that such processing is based on Article 6(1)(e) or (f) of the GDPR. If personal data is processed for the purposes of direct marketing, you may object to this at any time.
- Withdrawal of consent (Article 7(3) of the GDPR): Where processing is based on your consent, you may withdraw it at any time with effect for the future. The lawfulness of the processing carried out prior to the withdrawal remains unaffected.
- Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority (Article 77 of the GDPR): Without prejudice to any other administrative or judicial remedies, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a data protection supervisory authority regarding the processing of your personal data.

To exercise your rights, you may contact us at any time using the contact details provided in this privacy policy.

NOTICE REGARDING THE TRANSFER OF DATA TO OTHER WEBSITES

Facebook:

We use social plugins from facebook.com, operated by Facebook Inc., 1601 S. California Ave, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA. The plugins can be recognised by the Facebook logo or the text ‘Facebook Social Plugin’. For example, if you click the ‘ ’ button or leave a comment, the relevant information is transmitted directly from your browser to Facebook and stored there. Furthermore, Facebook makes your ‘Likes’ public to your Facebook friends. If you are logged in to Facebook, Facebook can directly associate your visit to our site with your Facebook account. Even if you are not logged in or do not have a Facebook account, your browser transmits information (e.g. which website you have visited, your IP address) that is stored by Facebook. For details on how Facebook handles your personal data and what rights you have in this regard, please refer to Facebook’s privacy policy. If you do not want Facebook to associate the data collected about you via our websites with your Facebook account, you must log out of Facebook before visiting our websites. You can also completely prevent Facebook plugins from loading by using add-ons for your browser, e.g. ‘FacebookBlocker’ (Facebook).

Instagram:

Functions from the Instagram service are integrated into our pages. These functions are provided by Instagram Inc., 1601 Willow Road, Menlo Park, CA, 94025, USA. If you are logged into your Instagram account, you can link content from our pages to your Instagram profile by clicking on the Instagram button. This enables Instagram to associate your visit to our pages with your user account. Please note that, as the provider of these pages, we have no knowledge of the content of the data transmitted or how it is used by Instagram.

Further information on this can be found in Instagram's privacy policy: https://instagram.com/about/legal/privacy/.

DISCLOSURE OF PERSONAL DATA TO THIRD PARTIES

The use of social media plugins results in the transfer of personal data.

TRACKING CONSENT (OPT-IN) OR: REFUSAL (OPT-OUT).

You have the right to withdraw your consent under data protection law at any time. Withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of processing carried out on the basis of consent prior to its withdrawal.
